We created this tool during the project planning phase, before we had any working notes, to test the Arduino code. The program reads the Arduino serial printout and displays the corresponding note.

Attention

The program hasn't been updated since then and doesn't work with the code presented in the repository.